Chapter 173: The Infinite Growth of the God of Shadows and Life

Sung Jin-Woo, the God of Shadows and Life and God of Creation and Abundance, stood atop the infinite expanse of his inner worlds, pondering the boundless potential of his power. Already the strongest of the Divine Triad, his might was unparalleled. Yet, Jin-Woo's ambitions went beyond mere superiority—he sought to transcend the very concept of limits.

1. Time Dilation Redefined

Having already expanded the time dilation within his inner worlds to unimaginable levels, Sung Jin-Woo decided to push even further. By his divine will, the flow of time within his inner worlds and his clones' inner worlds was accelerated to an extraordinary degree:

One second outside now equaled one million years inside.

This adjustment marked a monumental leap in the evolution of his domains, setting them apart as the ultimate realms of growth and creation. The forces within these worlds would now develop at a pace so incomprehensible that even the most powerful beings in existence could barely fathom it.

2. Forces Beyond Count

Inside these accelerated inner worlds, the growth of Sung Jin-Woo's armies reached astronomical scales.

His shadow forces, already numbering in the centillions, multiplied exponentially.

The World Trees within his realms bore countless fruits, giving rise to celestial beings, shadow soldiers, dragonkin, and other divine creations.

Each of these entities trained, reproduced, and expanded their own ranks, leading to an unstoppable cascade of creation and power.

Within mere moments of the outside world, the forces within Jin-Woo's inner worlds grew into centillions of centillions of centillions of soldiers, each loyal to their creator and imbued with unparalleled strength.

3. Power Beyond Measure

This infinite growth directly impacted Sung Jin-Woo's own power. As the creator and ruler of these inner worlds, every advancement and every creation contributed to his divine essence.

With his newfound strength, Jin-Woo surpassed his previous self by a factor of one hundred thousand times. His power now transcended the boundaries of what even the Divine Triad had thought possible.

4. Absolute Creation and Destruction

With this surge in power, Sung Jin-Woo's abilities as the God of Creation and Abundance and God of Shadows and Life reached new heights:

Creation: Jin-Woo could now craft entire universes with a mere thought, populate them with infinite beings, and intertwine their destinies to align with his divine plans.

Destruction: His power to annihilate was equally terrifying. With a single command, he could obliterate realms, erase entire timelines, and reduce even the mightiest foes to shadows under his dominion.

His control over life and death became absolute, and his connection to his inner worlds allowed him to draw upon an inexhaustible reservoir of divine energy and shadow mana.

5. Beyond the Divine Triad

Though the Divine Triad remained united in their dominion, it was clear that Sung Jin-Woo had taken a step beyond his peers. While Ashborn and Sung Su-Ho retained their own unique strengths, Jin-Woo's time dilation and infinite armies placed him in a league of his own.

Even the Lesser Divine: Duo Dragons, with their growing inner worlds and expanding powers, could only marvel at the scale of Jin-Woo's accomplishments.

6. The Multiverse Shifts

The multiverse itself began to feel the effects of Sung Jin-Woo's newfound power. The sheer magnitude of his presence caused ripples across reality, altering the fabric of existence:

The balance of power across realms shifted, with Jin-Woo's influence becoming an undeniable force in every corner of creation.

Entire civilizations began to worship him, drawn to his radiance and the promise of protection under his shadow.

7. The Eternal Shadow King

Sung Jin-Woo, now stronger than ever, took his place on his throne within the Umbra Citadel, his twelve wings unfurled in their full glory.

Equipped with his seven-horned golden mask-helmet, dark silver armor, and the Scepter of Dominion, he exuded an aura of absolute supremacy. His inner worlds continued to expand, each becoming a testament to his infinite potential and the eternal power of shadows and life.

As he gazed into the endless void of the multiverse, a single thought crossed his mind:

“There is no end to creation, for I am its source. And through me, the multiverse shall know eternity.”

Thus, the God of Shadows and Life ascended to a new pinnacle, unmatched and untouchable, his power stretching infinitely across all existence.
